New Changes for Next Year

-We are hiring an assistant teacher to provide additional support to parents and so parents won't have to work as often in the classroom.

-We have already hired an accountant to do the financial work on a consistent basis and thereby removing one of the family jobs.

-Added STREAM classes as optional day extenders.
(Science Technology Reading Art and Math)

We continue to learn and grow as a school just as our children and we have over time.

Please forward this information to anyone you think would enjoy having their children at our school as well as to someone you think would make a good assistant teacher.

Preschool Class Photographs

We will have a photographer, Megan Mehlum, in class on May 6th at 10am to take school pictures. Each child will have their photo take and we will have a class picture as well. These photos will be available for purchase.

Maura's Mentions

Last week of April

My, time is moving on. These next few weeks we will consolidate all the skills learned and refined throughout the year.

We will concentrate on story-telling – reading and listening, discussing, predicting, assessing. We will paint narratives and perform short plays. This will continue through next month and tickets, props etc will be made.

Listening to sounds and begin building 2- and 3-letter words.

We will fold paper, make patterns with dye and look for the symmetry there. The children are now carefully matching the corners to fold accurately. Next month I will introduce origami.

For snack please think of cooking or baking. Maybe we can picnic outside!
